I.V. Abramova

CONDITION AND FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF STATE SUPPORT OF AGRICULTURAL MARKETING CO-OPERATIVES

Taking into account the domestic and world experience in this thesis it was proved methodologically and emphasized the perspective directions of the forming the state support for the development of agricultural marketing co-operatives. The main point of the organizational-economic mechanism of state support for development of agricultural marketing co-operatives was revealed and the main elements of it were presented. With the help of analysis of the state of agricultural marketing co-operatives the progress trends and the problems of their activity were identified. The state and effectiveness of the state support of agricultural marketing cooperation in the agricultural sector of country economy were emphasized. It was developed the methodological approach to the forming organizational-economic mechanism of state support of agricultural marketing cooperation, on basis of complexity and consistency.

Key words: the state support, agricultural marketing co-operative, organizational-economic mechanism, future development, complexity, consistency.